These are unprecedented and challenging times for everyone – in particular for those involved in the tourism and hospitality sectors. The crisis will end at some point. There is likely to be significant pent up demand, and an increase in domestic over international travel. Dover District Council’s (DDC) growth strategy for the Tourism and Visitor Economy 2020-2030 publicised earlier this year, will now take on greater significance as we support the Government and Kent County Council, in plans to reboot our local economy.

In the meantime, DDC together with its Partners are working hard to : support businesses get through the crisis; keep the White Cliff Country destination alive; and put in place a recovery plan. DDC’s Tourism Team continues to operate – details below.

To keep the destination alive over the coming weeks, we will launch in May a promotional campaign using the “We’ll Meet Again”, theme made famous by Vera Lynn in World War Two, and referred to by HM The Queen during her address on Sunday 5th April 2020. Initially this will be domestically focused and structured around:

- Visit ‘WHEN’ lockdown is over. (visual examples are included in Appendix A)
- Visit ‘NOW’ lockdown is over.

The ‘Now Lockdown is Over’ campaign will be driven through DDC’s new “White Cliffs Country” interactive and virtual website which will go live on the day the campaign is launched, and together with marketing on social media, aims to stimulate ‘armchair inspiration’, encouraging future visits and forward bookings.

Looking ahead, DDC will mount a “White Cliffs Country” promotional stand at the next World Travel Market (WTM) to be held in London – details to be confirmed but likely towards the end of this year. The WTM is one of the top travel trade fairs globally. We will use this high level event to promote the District on both the domestic and international stage.

For now, DDC’s Tourism Team have put together the below Covid-19 Tool Kit which I hope you will find useful. Please contact Chris Townend and his Team if you need help.

Cllr Michael John Holloway OBE,
Deputy Leader of Dover District Council and Portfolio Holder for Tourism

TIP THREE

BE OPPORTUNITY SAVY

During this crisis there are businesses that have seen an uplift in sales and it is predicted that local farm shops and other similar set ups will continue to benefit beyond from a new customer base that is likely to stay loyal.

Many businesses are being creative and have diversified to offer more relevant services during the current situation. One of the more obvious examples is that restaurants and cafes have operated a home delivery service or a click and collect scheme which has worked successfully for them.

New promotional schemes are also now available to support you regarding delivery services and identifying available ‘trade’ stock. Visit and perhaps join up with www.helpkentbuylocal.co.uk (run by Produced in Kent).

You may want to consider if you have a business that can support key workers or help to accommodate healthcare or front-line services during this period.

Special offers are also a great way of building your database and reaching out to new contacts. Offers and vouchers that can be enjoyed now, such as discounted food delivery, or in the future once the corona crisis has passed such as short breaks and experiences in the area.

We would hope that many visitors, will manage their current reservations and bookings and change the dates and re-schedule rather than make cancellations. We would suggest that our industry members offer visitors the flexibility to re-book at a later date.

The speed at which tourism business manage to recover and bounce back from the situation will be dependent to this point.

Training Opportunities

You may also want to consider supporting your business by providing training opportunities to your employees.

- The Government has launched a new free online learning platform (https://www.gov.uk/government/news/new-free-online-learning-platform-to-boost-workplace-skills), ‘The Skills Toolkit’ will help people to build their skills during the coronavirus outbreak and beyond.
TIP FOUR
SHOUT ABOUT YOURSELF

Use this opportunity and time to promote your business and maintain communications.

Your website

Making sure that your website is user friendly will improve your chances of taking bookings and reaching a wider audience. Make it easy to find for those looking for information on where to stay and what to do when visiting White Cliffs Country.

- Think about the audience that might be visiting your site and make sure it will answer any questions they might have. Be clear about the services you offer.
- Provide a hyperlink from your website to the White Cliffs Country website.
- If you are having themed packages or events throughout the year, make sure these are listed on your site – as well as on the White Cliffs Country website.
- Promote your locality and what makes your location special; local information you might want to share may include; special ‘call to action’ annual visitor events that are going on in your town or your proximity to various key attractions and experiences.
- On top of this, there is likely to be an increase in traffic to your website once lockdown is over, so you might want to think about having a multi-lingual site. Google Translate have a simple, free plugin that you can install on your website that will make your site available in lots of different languages.

Your social media

Establish a manageable social media presence and use that social media to highlight all that your business is doing – look out for and connect to relevant social trends.

- You might want to share some images that you have taken of the surrounding area - pictures are always popular with consumers on Facebook and Instagram in particular, photos really stand out in a user’s timeline.
- Create content that is varied and interesting, not just a stream of sales messages.
- Work together with other local businesses, to spread the word online about what is going on that will be of interest to potential visitors

Examples of local information you might want to share:

- Special events that are going on in your town and locality
- Themed menus from local restaurants
- The nearest attractions and experiences to your property

If you show through your social media that the location of your business is a real hive of activity, then you will attract more people to your business.

WORK TOGETHER

Two heads are better than one!

Working together, either business to business or as a group/community, can encourage everyone to aim for the same goal and yield far greater results.

How will you encourage visitors to engage with the area, engage with you, and ultimately spend money in your businesses?

Are there complementary businesses/events nearby that could enhance your own offer to provide a superior package for your customers?

For example:

- Could you offer evening meals/packed lunches for nearby accommodation that cannot offer their own, such as local campsites?
- Get involved and work with your local Chamber of Commerce or Town Team.
  - Deal and Walmer Chamber of Trade.
  - Deal – Love Local.
  - Dover District Chamber of Commerce.
  - Dover Town Team.
  - Sandwich Chamber of Commerce.
  - Thanet and East Kent Chamber.
  - Kent Invicta Chamber of Commerce.
- Get involved and work with your local tourism association:
  - WCCTA.
